S. H. C. TO HOLD HEARING IN LOVELL REGARDING ROUTE 5 RECONSTRUCTION

The State Highway Commission will hold a public hearing at the VFW building in Lovell on Monday, July 21, at 7:30 p. m. regarding the proposed reconstruction and possible relocation of a portion of Route 5.

The section of highway to be discussed extends from a recently improved section near the Kezar Lake Country Club southerly slightly more than a mile. Tentative engineering plans show the possibility of a relocation of the highway from the junction of Route 5-A to the southerly end of the section to eliminate several hazardous curves.

During the hearing SHC engineers will explain the proposed project in detail with the aid of large maps and charts. Relocation assistance programs will be discussed as well as tentative schedules for right-of-way acquisition and construction. There will be an opportunity for

COMMENTS FROM THE OFFICE OF THE TOWN MANAGER

The special town meeting will be held next Monday evening, July 14, at 8 o'clock to act upon articles to authorize the selectmen to lease land at the airport, to sell the East Bethel School House, to raise $350 additional for Parks and Cemeteries, and to see if the town wishes to join a Regional Planning Agency. The meeting will be held in the auditorium at Telstar High School.

We have purchased the steel girders to build the "Smith Bridge". An attempt is going to be made to reinforce the abutments, as to replace them will create an expense far in excess of the money available. We were fortunate in that we were able to find four girders the right size for the project. We purchased two others that must be spliced, these will be used on the outer edges where the load will not be as great.

Tarring has been completed for this year. We are still receiving requests to do driveways but there will be no more done until next year.

CARD OF THANKS
Our two years as pastor of the Bethel Methodist Church were a most pleasant and gratifying experience. Sunday evening when over 80 parishioners appeared at our door and gave us a surprise "housewarming" party at our home in Albany we were so pleased. Every member of our family was impressed by the generosity and love and friendship. We were left feeling that our rewards in this ministry have been greater than we had anticipated. Truly there is something in human relations which is much more precious than gold!

Fred Judkins, $15.00; Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Judkins, $100.00; Interest from Bank Nov. 1968 and May 1969, $14.19; Total, $555.19. Roland Bernier, Henry Tuominen, and Edward Brennan, donated their labor.

Expenses were incurred and paid as follows: Western Maine Supply Co., cement, $13.67; Norman Littlehale, 1 load gravel, $10.00; Sidney E. Abbott, labor, $40.00; Glenn Abbott, labor, $30.00; Total $93.67; Balance in Bethel Savings Bank, $461.52.

Glenn Abbott reported on the work accomplished last fall, as follows:

In order to put in the form for the new footings and wall, Mr. Bernier bulldozed along the south wall to the depth of the footing, the forms were put in place and the wall and footings poured. Then the foundation slabs were set on edge ready to pour concrete on top of the walls to hold the slabs in place. The concrete should embed the lower, two inches of the slabs and no concrete should touch the face of the slabs so as to have a clean appearance for the finished job. He would be able to work on the job only when his regular work permitted. Doing it in this way would be much less expensive than contracting the work. He was familiar with this work as he rebuilt the foundation of the Magalloway church when he lived in Magalloway before moving to Upton.

In excavating for the footing he found that there was a millstone under each rear corner of the church. These were five feet in diameter and seemed to be in perfect condition. They could only have come from the Abbott Grist Mill at the foot of Mill Hill and at the time the church was built in 1874 were probably brought up the hill by oxen. Why they chose to have the church foundation built on millstones is an interesting question. He also mentioned that the position of the supporting piers under the church indicated that over the years the church had moved 18 inches sideways towards the Ladies Aid Building.

Once the south wall is completed, the rest of the walls and the central supports can be made level with the south wall. The central supports have been raised so that the extreme sag in the floor has been corrected temporarily.

Discussion indicated that the millstones, which could only be moved with a truck vehicle, should be set in concrete in some permanent location as historic monuments of the town history.

There was a general discussion as to the relationship between the Church organization and the Friends of the Upton Church with respect to how the future success of the church could be best assured. It was pointed out that the church, when organized in 1874, was non-denominational and known as the Upton Union Church.

On motion by Mrs. Arlene Bernier duly seconded it was voted that the church should be reorganized as the Upton Union Church, membership being open to all those interested in the church on the basis of an avowed interest in the church.

Lawrence Wade pointed out in support of this action that a church is people, not the building.

The question was raised as to whether there should be a service on July 6, the following day, and if so could Mr. Thurston serve. Mrs. Judkins indicated that with the expected Sunday offerings and the church operating funds on hand, it should be possible to meet expenses for Sundays in July and August. Up-

NEW LAW PROVIDES $7,000 TO MARK MAINE-NEW HAMPSHIRE LINE

Gov. Kenneth M. Curtis has signed into law a bill to provide $7,000 for the marking out of the Maine-New Hampshire border, and in another bill he approved the law requiring this marking set out every seven years.

The Governor and Executive Council must appoint a surveyor from the State Highway Department to perform the assignment, also known as a perambulation of the border.

A record of the survey is filed with the Secretary of State of both Maine and New Hampshire.

The Bethel Historical Society has received a donation of two yards of pennies from Ruth Lord.

Letters to the Editor

Newry, Maine
July 5, 1969

Dear Editor:

An act passed by the 104th Legislature, and signed into law by Governor Curtis will probably mean a 50% increase in taxes in many Maine cities and towns either in 1970 or 1971. This is in addition to any increase in appropriations which might normally be expected.

The bill, introduced by Rep. Louis Jalbert, D. Lewiston, provides that all Maine Municipalities must adopt a July 1 - June 30, fiscal year not later than July 1, 1972. To do this, it will probably be necessary to appropriate money for 18 months in either 1970 or 1971.

With increasing costs, especially in school departments, taxes are soaring to a point where many find it difficult to pay. To pass a law which forces us to increase this by 50%, even for one year, I feel is unnecessary, unjust and unwise.

Despite Mr. Jalbert's and others arguments for the bill, I can see no advantage and many disadvantages. In my 18 years as a Town official, I have found that using the calendar year as the fiscal year is much more satisfactory. It is estimated that less than 10% of Maine cities and towns now use the July 1 - June 30 dates.

I believe a large majority use the calendar year and find it very satisfactory. This, in my opinion, should have told the legislature that the people did not want, or need the change, and in voting for it, I feel that they were not being fair to the people they were sent to Augusta to represent. When a majority of Maine municipalities have used the calendar year for years and found that it worked out very well, I can see no valid reason for the forced change.

It should be noted that any city or town so desiring could have adopted the July 1 - June 30 date. The fact that a very few did should be ample proof that it was not considered practical. The new law will also necessitate other changes. Using the calendar year gave the Municipal Officers a chance to close their books at the end of the year, prepare the Annual Reports and have them out before the March Town meetings. On April first, or soon after, the Assessors could start work on taxes. Under the new law, the books cannot be closed until after June 30. Town Meetings can not be held until some time after that, probably in August, or even later. Work on taxes, of course, could not be started until after Town Meetings were held.

I am sure that many Municipal Officials will agree that this law never should have been passed.

I feel that Municipal Officials with many years of experience should know what is best for their Municipalities and that if they felt that the change should have been made they would have made it without legislation. Since they did not, I feel that our legislators should never have voted for this bill, at least without contacting the officials in their districts to get their feelings in the matter.

There will be another election in 1970 and I feel that we should all work together to send legislators to Augusta who will work for our interests, and who will make an effort to get this unnecessary and unwanted law off the books.

Sincerely,
Roger E. Hanscom

TELSTAR R. H. S. NEWS

GUIDANCE DEPARTMENT

The report this week will conclude the series of three articles on the "Basic Concepts of Guidance in K-12".

The guidance report presented this week in grades 9-12 has been prepared by David Denison, a member of the Guidance Staff at Telstar.

The guidance program on the high school level is oriented towards the question each student must ask himself prior to graduation, that is, "What am I going to do after graduation?" Until more recent times, the answer to this question was often simple. With less emphasis on education and fewer vocations existing, a young man would most likely follow the vocational footsteps of his father. The simplicity of this decision has been greatly complicated by the rapid change that has occurred in our society. This change results from an increased technical development, and subsequently, a much greater emphasis has been placed on education. I read not long ago that in the next few years, 25% of the working population will be employed on jobs that do not exist today, and even today there are thousands of occupations that an individual may choose from. Also significant is the number of women that are working today and this percentage is expected to increase.

A brief overview of the role of guidance in the school system would have to place emphasis on the Vocational, Educational and Personal-Social Counseling process designed to aid the student in determining his or her future direction. Essential to the whole process is the concept that each individual is unique as the result of his or her own life experiences and personality traits. Therefore, the emphasis in the counseling process varies greatly according to the individuals' needs.

These three areas of counseling can be divided only in theory, for in reality they all play a role in answering the question, "What am I going to do?" The emphasis on each of these areas is as follows:

Vocational Counseling deals with the process by which the individual determines areas of vocational interests and also the dissemination of information regarding various vocations; Educational Counseling assists the individual in determining the necessary academic prerequisites for vocational areas or further education; and the Personal-Social Counseling assists the individual in developing self-awareness as well as dealing with attitude and motivation. With the complexity of the vocational choice, it becomes more important that the student be aware of himself and of his or her vocation area of interest so that the vocational selection of the individual will be meaningful. It is also obviously important that the student be aware of and have the necessary academic background to be successful in their pursuit.

Some of the other functions that come to play in the process are: Testing, Teacher and Parent Conferences, Maintenance of Cumulative Records, Assisting in Course Selection, Making Referral to outside agencies, and Visitations to Colleges and to Vocational Schools.

To assure a continuity in the guidance program at Telstar this fall, the following schedule will be in order: Grades 10,11, Mr. Denison; Grades 9, 12, Mrs. Hotte; Grades 7, 8, Mr. Glazier.

With the exception of grades 7 and 9, the pupils will have the same counselors as they did last week.

New residents moving into School Administrative District 44 this summer are encouraged to enroll their children in grades 7-12 at Telstar Regional High School as soon as they take up residence in order to make course selections as ideal as possible. Contact the Guidance Office.

Any high school student desiring summer school credit should contact Mr. Glazier immediately. Openings are still available at Berlin High School through July 14.

The Guidance Office has listings of colleges which still have vacancies for freshmen and transfer students for the fall of 1969. Please contact the Guidance Office if you are interested.

Recent high school graduates are cautioned to beware of people-selling correspondence school programs. While some of these programs are legitimate and do accomplish what they promise, others do not. Some correspondence schools are very good, and in some cases, the student may receive high school or college credit for successful completion of these courses. This credit can only be granted if the granting school is also involved in the course as it proceeds. For further details, please check with the Guidance Department.

Any student who is planning to take the Scholastic or Achievement Tests at Farmington State College on July 12, may contact Mr. Glazier, if he desires transportation. Tel. 824-2027.

EAST STONEHAM

Gladys Kilgus, Corres.

Two moose were seen here near Albert Nelson's residence, Monday night.

Martha Grover has been at a camp in Litchfield for the past week, with several other girls.

Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Grover visited her brother in Bingham over the holiday.

Much sympathy is extended to the Rolfe family whose son, "Mike", was killed in an automobile accident on Butter's Hill Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Hall and family from Minot visited the Buck family Sunday.

Mrs. Iva Jones is seriously ill at her home here.

Mrs. Grace Merrill is much better and is able to take a few rides.

Lawrence Dadmun and family are enjoying a vacation of one week.

Leon Dunn is working at Virginia Lake Farm.

BETHEL LIBRARY

"Mesabi," by Margaret C. Bunnell, "Mesabi" is a novel of the life and time of Hugh Champlain, a deeply moving story that is also the story of a complex business world, and a peculiarly American city formed by that world.

"Hushed Were the Hills," by Millie McWhirter. You'd expect life to be reasonably tame for a young widowed schoolteacher who moves to the hills of Tennessee with her two daughters. Not necessarily true. Their adventures were only beginning.

"Dead Straight," by Donald MacKenzie. An attractive widow living in the London suburb of Kingston Hill was asking for protection from a jealous husband. The hitch was that the husband had been dead for seven months. But his telephone calls continued unabated.

STATE OF MAINE

To all persons interested in either of the Estates hereinafter named:

At a Probate Court held at Paris, in and for the County of Oxford, on the seventeenth day of June in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and sixty-nine, from day to day from the seventeenth day of said June. The following matters having been presented for the action thereupon hereinafter indicated, it is hereby Ordered:

That notice thereof be given to all persons interested, by causing a copy of this order to be published two weeks successively in the Bethel Citizen a newspaper published at Bethel, in said County, that they may appear at a Probate Court to be held at Paris, on the fifteenth day of July A. GREENWOOD CITY

Mrs. Colista Morgan, Corres.

July has arrived and the year is half over.

I spent the first two afternoons cleaning "Boat" and giving her a new coat of paint.

It was glorious at the pond's edge facing the whole expanse of the water and the tumbled hills; Boat and I alone with water, sky, and mountains.

A brisk breeze blew up the pond and brought the waves lapping among the grass stalks. The wide spreading ash edging the water graced this spot and sheltered us from the dazzling sun.

As I painted and looked to the far shore, I thought of the change since early spring. Now the floaters and submerged plants, grow intermingled. Lilly pads cover the surface more and more, thickly carpeting the waters, an enchanting sight when the flowers are spread on a background of black water. I think of them as floating islands in the shadows of clouds and reflected sky.

So the underwater light gets dimmer. These submerged plants weaken and die and they add their remains to the silt and mud that has accumulated. In this airless underwater, decay is slow and the bottom of the pond builds up rapidly with dead vegetation. Here in the shallow waters the stouter plants get a foothold and push their way to the surface. Ours are the pickerel weed, reeds, arrowhead, water plantain and sweet flag and cat tails near the shore. The latter is a common sight on the swampy landscape. Their seed spikes and tall, narrow leaves, stay green through the summer, turning tawny golden in autumn and softening to tan through winter.

The grasses have a slight difference in height and mixed with the other plants make a crazy quilt pattern each on its own level among the tussocks and bright colored blue flag and other blossoms.

I thought of the alders so thick in this very spot a few years ago and the button bushes still near by tolerant of wet feet.

Perched on a bush above the luminous water Mr. Redwing inspected my work with his "Conker-ee". He enjoyed the sun beating down on his black and red dress.

The old black crow heading into the brisk wind paused long enough to make his comment, "Which are you painting, Boat or You?" Then he took off for his destination.

Occasionally I paused to rest my eyes on the mountains and think of them as a fascination, a challenge, a solace. Why? That I cannot answer. I love the grandeur as they stand like sentinels, scanning the earth and starry skies. They listen to the streams gurgling happily on to the sea. There they stand vast and ageless.

Surveying all, a lone Blue Heron, stood fishing; its reed like legs supporting him—a silent fisherman in the silent grasses.

I left with the thought of the proverb "He that follows nature is never out of his way."
